

The “Clinician Scientist Program for Immunology and Immunotherapy” and the Mainz Research School of Translational Biomedicine (TRANSMED) jointly offer a training program for young clinician scientists with a strong focus on translational research. The program is intended to provide a comprehensive platform for advanced training of highly motivated physicians dedicated to immunology or immunotherapy.

TRANSMED offers positions for a

Fellowship for the “Clinician Scientist Program for Immunology and Immunotherapy” (TV-Ärzte UM Mainz, Ä1, 50%).

The fellowship is available for 24 months and mandatorily needs to be started on October 1, 2026. The other half of the salary has to be funded through the affiliated clinical department.

We expect:

- An excellent German State Examination and an outstanding MD degree
- A strong commitment to a career in the research field of immunology or immunotherapy
- High motivation and strong interest in translational biomedicine
- An integrative and cooperative personality

We offer:

- An individualized structured curriculum combining clinical training and research experience
- A broad range of workshops in state-of-the-art research technologies and in transferable skills
- A comprehensive mentoring program with supervision by a team of advisors

TRANSMED is committed to equal opportunity and the compatibility of family and career. They therefore explicitly encourage applications from women.
